Henryville.

MAYFLOWER

Our Town was given quite a surprise last Thursday evening when it became known that Mrs. L. A. Pennington was

Mr. James Chambers, a gentleman that came from Lauridabe county West Tennessee. Mrs. Pennington was a lady esteemed and loved by her many friends and will be greatly missed. It seems that the parties became introduced through Mr. and Mrs. Burlinson of West Tennessee, a correspondence followed until Mr. Chambers came up here and the wedding followed.

Mr. Chambers, it is said, owns a fine farm in West Tennessee, and a man of considerable property. Mr. Chambers is a fine looking man of his age, being about fifty years. Rev. Hosale performed the ceremony. A few special friends witnessed the marriage. Mrs. Lou as she was commonly called, hastily wound up her affairs here, and left with her husband for West Tennessee where they expect to make their future home. We extend our best wishes to them.

We have another grocery store established in Henryville, conducted by U. K. Woodard.

Mr. A. R. Voss has moved out in the western suburbs of Henryville, and still dealing out bran for cows.

UNCLE ABE.

We are having some very cold wet weather, and I am afraid will damage the farmers through this part of the country.

W. P. Comer and family, Claud Harris and family, Thomas Green, and Thomas Davis and family, took dinner with Frank Hammons, last Sunday. After dinner there seemed to be some confusion with the women about camphor as Coner Harris and Green, seem to have eaten to much and caused some loud grunting. The cause of this trouble was by Mr. Comer eating 12 fried peaches Claud Harris a pot of turnip salad, and Thomas Green one oven of sweet potatoes besides other refreshments they took on. After the women used plenty of camphor and asafetida and other stuff, they got the men able to set up and call for water, then when the music began on the talking machine, had played about 20 pieces, Thomas Green said he could enjoy music better if he had a sweet potatoe and some honey to be eating on.

There was singing at Second Creek last Sunday, but none from Mr. Hammonds was able to go in the afternoon. Comer and Harris does hope the singing did not serve the singers like their dinner served them.

The weather don't seem to be too bad bad for farmers to cleaning up land.

Jim Stout is opening up a big farm to cultivate this year. A cultivator will be the thing for Jim.

Oscar Crowder shook his fist at Uncle Abe the other day and said, "Don't be writing me up to the Democrat so hard." Crowder must be sorry he is a Republican.

We were all sorry to hear of how Mr. Harvey came to his death. It was a great shock to the people of this neighborhood.

Lonzo Tyler has moved to himself. He says he didn't know how much better any one could like it, than him, to be to himself. (Of course his wife is with him.)

Uncle Abe will be in the shoot now, as he has subscribed for six papers to read, but he don't ask his wife to save eggs to pay for them.

Wedding bells are supposed to be ringing next Sunday. No announcements have been made, but can tell by the weather etc.

Town And County.

Mr. P. H. Allen the popular Lumber man is stoping at the Austin House.

We are pleased to place Miss Susie Marten of Dunn on our list of readers.

Mr. D. A. Linsly one of Nashvilles foremost business men stoped at the Austin House while in Town. His Father Mr. Lonzo Linsley is a native of Lawrence, Co. and very popular in Nashville.

Several prominent Democrats of both the Cox and Pattersons factions called Monday to comment our suggestion that the Gubernatorial contest be settled here at home and not carried to the State convention. Such encouragement makes us feel mighty good.

Mr. E. D. Brown of Louisville, Ky. was in town last week looking after the rate contract on lumber and stoped at the Austin House while in town.

The Ladies of the M. E. Church, South, will have an Easter sale beginning Friday the 13th, at 2 p. m., and will serve cake and cream. Place will be announced later.

George Bros. have a page brimful of Easter Offerings in this issue. Our reader can always depend on the advertisements of this enterprising firm. They do exactly what they advertise, and their progressive methods and reliability is doing much to bring the mail order trade to our town, for which they deserve praise and patronage.

Mr. J. Allen Littrell of Loretto, Tenn., with Mr. W. A. Gable, passed through Florence last week on his way home from a prospecting trip through Arkansas and Mississippi. Mr. Littrell bought a large tract of timbered land at Lake Village, Ark., at which place the J. A. Littrell Hoop Co., will put up an eight or ten thousand dollar plant.—Florence Times.

If you miss the very attractive offerings in the Racket's display advertisement, in this issue you will regret it.

Read the Racket's new "AD."

Mrs. H. M. White, will move into her home on Gables street, this week. The house has been improved and added to, so that it is one of the handsomest in the City.

Dr. Dan Crews, is home from Nashville, and was looking after important interests in the City Sunday.

Mr. Gookins the genial and popular manager of the Patterson, Gookins & Co Phosphate plant is one of our new readers.

Premiums.

I wish to inform the public that there will be a Colt Show in 1907 of Ostwind's colts. The best gets another season free for the owner, next best one-half price for next year. These colts will be half breed, half breeds sell from five hundred to one thousand dollars at two and three years old if cared for properly. Respectfully.

Auctioneer, N. WELCH,
Lawrenceburg, Tenn.
